At Canyon View Middle, there is an eighth grade volleyball team. The players include: Tatum Millett, Hallie Potter, Keely Dettling, Lani Hansen, Bree Colbert, Bailey Adair, Kenzi Whitehair, Saydee Sherrett, and Sadie Slack. Their outside hitters are Tatum Millett, Saydee Sherrett, Sadie Slack, and Baylee Adair. They have two middle blocks: Keely Dettling, and Lani Hansen. Hallie Potter is the setter. Bree Colbert is the right side and Kenzie Whitehair is the libero. The coaches are Misty Potter, Jana Millett, and Jamie Dettling. On October 8, Canyon View played in a Milford tournament and won the whole thing. They ended with a 10-3 season.

It appears that Canyon View High School will have a good freshman volleyball team next year. They play as a team and enjoy the sport. Adair says her favorite part about playing volleyball is "hitting the ball, and the excitement you get when a teammate gets a good play." Millett says her favorite part is "working as a team, playing hard, diving, getting the ball up, and hitting the ball."

The team worked hard and developed into better players throughout the season. "We would have to do handstands for a minute; that's what made us stronger in many ways. We became stronger as a team cheering for each other and holding each other up. We also got stronger physically," said Potter.

Fury is a mix of Canyon View players and Cedar players. Thirteen of the girls go to Canyon View and 4 go to Cedar. To be a part of this team, you have to try out. This is a completive team that plays other competitive teams throughout Southern Utah. Many girls have been working on their game for a long time. They started playing before they started Kindergarten. Erin Robinson started at 5, Addison Newman was 4, and Maizee Hallows was 3. Their coach is Steve Newman.
