

You Be the Chemist Challenge: Canyon View Middle Dominates

Canyon View "You Be the Chemist" winners

By: Avery Brown

CVMS did very well at the You Be the Chemist contest this year. All five competitors from Canyon View Middle placed in the top ten in the District competition. Mrs. Lambert, Honors Science teacher, helped each of these students prepare for the District challenge. The You Be the Chemist Challenge is high school level chemistry.

This science/chemistry challenge consists of a test with advanced chemistry questions. Jared Winn, Henry Sanderson, Jeffery Ginouves, Calli Jordan, and Avery Brown represented Canyon View Middle School. All five of the school's participants made the long journey to Ogden on Saturday, April 9th, for the State Challenge where Jared Winn brought home third place honors.

Lecorchick, Miller, and Bringhurst Say Goodbye

By Alexis Cook

Canyon View will say goodbye to three faculty members. These ladies have dedicated a very large part of their lives to helping students succeed. They will be missed by all.

Mrs. Miller, a Language Arts and Utah History teacher, says the thing she will miss most about this school is "the funny things kids say and do." Mrs. Miller is retiring after 23 years.

Mrs. Bringhurst, registrar/secretary, says she has worked for Iron County schools for 14 years. She states that the thing she will miss most about CVMS is "learning new things and meeting so many wonderful people." But she also says that she will not miss waking up at 5:30 every morning!

Mrs. LeCorchick, US history teacher, says, "I plan to travel the world, visit my grandkids and children, and write books." She has worked here at CVMS for 22 years and says she will miss the students the most. "I have taught thousands of wonderful kids over the years...I do love when I meet former students years later and find out they are doing great things."

Davis Takes Grand Prize in Fantasy Art

By: Avangeling Medina

The 7th and 8th grade art students competed in the Annual Fantasy Art Contest in March. An 8th grader from Canyon Middle School, Baylee Davis, took 2nd place in the technology category.

Baylee Davis

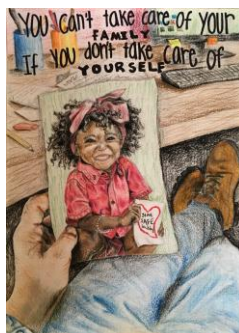

create their projects during the contest. They also had a time limit. Students were allowed 4 hours to create a piece of art with no references.

The competition was against seventh to ninth graders and approximately 20 Southern Utah schools where invited to participate. Canyon View took Baylee Davis, Shaydon Pete, Tanner Harden, Jaxon Dastrup, Bayti Dutton, Jaeli Foster, Erica Harden, Kiyoko Patterson, and Kolby Spring.

Canyon View's art students were also invited by the Utah Labor Commission to participate in their annual Safety Poster Contest. This contest is to help students learn about work place safety. Baylee Davis took the grand prize this year and was awarded $500. According to Mrs. Bettridge, she has won this award two years in a row. Jaeli Foster took home one of the merit awards, and she received $50 for her poster.

Baylee Davis

Canyon View has a great art department and a lot of talented artists.

